

Arts at the STSP

■ Painting of Xilaya Brave on the Elevated Water Tank by Daoye Lake (November 19, 2012)

■ Painting of Xilaya Woman on the Elevated Water Tank by Daoye Lake (November 19, 2012)

Touching Xilaya Landscape and Color Paintings on the Elevated Water Tank by Daoye Lake

Artist Hsung Tsungjie combined Xilaya cultural history and appreciation to create "Impression: SIRAYA" by presenting a male and a female facial expressions on the elevated water tank nearby Daoye Lake and incorporated it with light, angle changes and shattering momentum thereby making the water tank a new STSP landmark.

Colorful and Interesting Public Toilet Art

Upon walking into public toilets by Yingxi Lake, visitors are amazed by the colorful toilet doors painted by a foreign art teacher in the Bilingual Department of the NTKIEH, Mr. Martin Garcia. During October and December Mr. Garcia was inspired by the STSP's architecture and landscape to create a fantastic world by using selected geometric patterns and blank space. His efforts changed public toilets from being boring to fascinating.

2012 STSP Spring Art Event: "Music" World

From March 10 to April 28, under the Yellow Ribbon by Yinxi Lake, an eight-week "The World's Diversified Cultural Banquet" Outdoor Music Concept of the STSP Spring Art Events presented audiences with audio and visual (the Yellow Ribbon) enjoyment with the world famous song, "Tie a Yellow Ribbon Around the Old Oak Tree" performed by a wide variety of performing bands playing in different genres.

■ Color Painting on the Doors of a Public Toilet by a Foreign Art Teacher in the Bilingual Department of the NTKIEH, Mr. Martin Garcia

2012 STSP Art Festival- The Story of STSP

The 3rd STSP Art Festival was held from November 17, 2012 to January 27, 2013 under the theme "Let us Tell You a Story about the STSP." It included warm-up activities, two seminars, ten workshops, and 40 public art guidance activities. The participants joined in with passion and at the same time, via audio and video introduction on the Facebook Fan Page, viewers were able to understand the creation concept behind the art work as well as interact and share with each other.

■ Amazing Program Performance at the STSP Art Festival (November 17, 2012)

Punctuating Technology Development with Art: Public Art Program at the Kaohsiung Science Park

To promote the Phase 1 Public Art program, the Kaohsiung Science Park organized the STSP Art Festival at the same time as the Tainan Science Park and based on its new "Technology and Art Town" project under the axis of "Participation and Creation." It attracted many participants.

■ Design Concept Description Given by the Exhibiting Team to Director-general Mr. Chen Chunwei (December 19, 2012)

New Ideas at the Creativity Design Exhibition at Park17

To promote creative exchanges and a LOHOAS atmosphere, from December 18 to 21, on the second floor of the STSP's Park 17 Shopping Mall, the "STSP Creativity Exhibition" was organized by inviting well-known design teams to exhibit various award winning crafts and packing and product designs that allowed participants to exchange and brainstorm new creative designs.

■ Plant Line Used for the Service and Administration Center of the Kaohsiung Science Park to Represent Vitality

■ "Red Arch" Public Art at the Kaohsiung Science Park (January 28, 2013)

